Washington, July 20.—Cleveland handed Washington a 2 to 1 beating in the final game of the series to-day. Hirmingham trotted out Left-Hander Greig to make sure of the game, and he was unhittable until the fourth, when, on two hits, Washington scored its only run of the game. Boehling, who faced the Naps, was hit twice in the second inning, and the Naps put a marker over the plate. In the fifth, on Carlsch's three-base hit and Lajoie's single, another run breezed over the plate, which proved to be the winning run, as Washington was held safe scales in three afternoons. Two of the games were copped on Saturday from Portsmouth, and two more were landed in the net yesterday, when the Colts went down in double defeat to the tune of 6 to 4, and 6 to 5.

Both contests were enough to send weak-hearted fans to a premature grave. In the first, a ninth inning rally, during which one run was scored, had the large crowd, augmented by several hundred school kids, acting as one huge, gigantic maniac. In the second battle, the same situation arose in the seventh frame, when two runs were pushed across the pan. Grimes—"Husky" Grimes, if you please—was the real hero of both spurts, being called in at the pinch. Both times he responded nobly to the entreaties of the howling sea of fanatics, and ripped out beautiful grass cutters, each time howling sea of fanatics, and ripped out beautiful grass cutters, each time scoring a pal.

For just four hours and thirty minutes the two games each nine-inning affgirs, were strung out. The management had promised to give the worth of the money to the fans, and the players helped to carry out the contract, and, while the home team lost, two good games to witness resulted. It cannot be said that either were brilliant exhibitions of the great sport, but both were of the kind that suits the red-blooded fan or fannie.

Foxen faced the Goobers in the first, and allowed thirteen hits. His teammates responded with nine swats, and threw in a trio of errors for good measure. The hitting of the locals was not well placed, except in the fourth spasm, when Rohe came in on a circuit drive by Berger, and again in the ninth, when Grimes came to the rescue.

Richmond and Hirsch twirled in the second game for the Goobers. Ten hits were made off the pair.
